To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing this letter on behalf of Michael Kim Riegelman. I am the owner of a staffing company in New York City, and have known Michael for many years. He has worked for my company and it is always a pleasure to work with him. He has gone to many types of firms throughout the city and has always been requested back. The temporary business is one which people find themselves in different working situations and different environments, on a weekly basis. Michael has adapted quickly to all positions he has been placed on. Michael is an excellent worker, but more importantly he is a wonderful person. He has a good and kind character. I believe that he would make an excellent teacher and would also be an excellent role model. Your school would be very lucky to have someone like him on your staff.

Please feel free to contact me with any questions you may have.

Sincerely,

Dion Georges
