At GHAC we get people out of their comfort zones, and show them some action. Our motto is 'Get more out of life'. Over the last few years we have conducted 1300 plus meetups, many of them local and some out-station treks. Adventure is the core of what we do at GHAC, but we care for nature at a much deeper level. We conduct events on awareness and conservation, tree plantation, clean up drives, bird and butterfly watching, study of common flora and fauna. We have also built an online wiki of information on it.

GHAC has been able to bring a qualitative change in the lives of thousands of our members, who have found their life enhanced by the activities that we at GHAC conduct week after week. The physical fitness improves, so do the leadership skills and they improve their social interaction as they get to meet many like-minded people.

We are true to GHAC's catch line - "Get more out of Life"
