Business Offering

Tony Dean, owner and operator of Greybeard Productions, provides professional sound, staging, and lighting of the highest quality for indoor/outdoor public/private events/entertainment of up to 5000 square foot and up to 500 attendees<sup>1</sup>.

Since 2004, Greybeard Productions under Tony Dean's expertise has managed all aspects of a wide range of live events and performances including setup, hands-on operations, and breakdown of complete sound, staging, and lighting services for a variety of clients in the business, community, and entertainment arenas. As a technical engineer with over 15 years of experience, Tony Dean brings an unparalleled knowledge, experience, and intelligence to assure the highest quality results for his clients.

From day one, Greybeard Productions has focused on not just the technical and functional excellence of the equipment deployed but most importantly on the end result to assure each client achieves the desired, most satisfying impact and experience for each audience performance given the specific venue. The quality of service delivered by Greybeard Productions can be measured by the range of scalable and flexible equipment delivered to each job site, the amount of planning and setup time provided to assure each job is delivered on time and at the appropriate production levels, and the transparency of the equipment used so as to focus on the art of the performance and not the technical equipment used to achieve the art of the performance.

Greybeard Productions goes well beyond the written contract for each of its clients and is always focus on achieving the highest quality result for an entire job whether it calls for more time in flexibility and scalability of equipment at initial setup or at any time throughout the event.
