

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS TRAINING
with the Puget Sound Conservative Underground

Join fellow Conservatives in Kirkland on Saturday, February 11, as Lisa Thwing (King County Republican Executive Board member and fellow PSCU member) will walk us through what to expect at the March 3rd Caucuses. Conservatives need to be prepared to speak up at the caucuses and help determine our state's endorsed GOP candidate for the Presidency. Lisa will explain our caucus process from top to bottom - from precinct caucuses through the National Convention.

Seating is limited at this caucus training session, so you must RSVP here:

<http://www.meetup.com/PugetSoundConservativeUnderground/events/45639572/>

Even if you cannot attend a training session, please try to attend the Caucus on Saturday, March 3. Find your county's location here:

→SNOHOMISH: <http://www.snocogop.com/Caucus/Default.aspx>

→KING: <http://www.kcgop.org/caucus-locator/>

→PIERCE: <http://piercegop.org/2012-caucuses/>

→KITSAP: http://www.kitsaprepublicans.com/info\_countycaucus.php

Here's why attending the March 3rd Republican Caucus is important, as explained by the state Republican Party's Political Director, Caleb Heimlich:

Our recent Straw Poll illustrates how competitive our Caucuses on March 3rd will be. Of the votes cast Mitt Romney won with 27%, followed by 26% for Newt Gingrich and 18% for Ron Paul. The competition between these three is clearly intense and it will be interesting to see whose people show up to caucus on March 3rd. The Iowa results were a little different with Rick Santorum taking 25% in Iowa but only 11% in our straw poll. As you are well aware, our caucus is going to get national coverage since it falls just before Super Tuesday and is the 11th contest in the Republican Presidential Nominating process. Turnout will be high and I think that will be the deciding factor for the winning candidate. We will turn our state and country around in 2012, starting with the caucus on March 3. The caucus is the only opportunity for our activists to choose who will defeat Obama and replace his pro-government administration with a pro-growth and pro-freedom President that will get America working again.