

"To serve others comes with little or no self gratification or financial rewards. It's a gift reserved to the hearts of those being served and server." Dr. Gerry Dembrowski April 2009

Gerry met his wife Margerie Geronimo in the Woburn Public Library back in the 80's. They dated a few times and moved onto pursue their individual aspirations. Over a decade later from their chance meeting at the library Dr. Gerry returned from graduate school to establish a practice in his home town of Woburn. There is a saying "real life is stranger than fiction." To make a long story short. In the late 90's Gerry was invited to a Christmas party. His mother said "Margerie called several months ago why don't you give her a call." Comes to find out it wasn't several months, it was more like eight plus years. We went to the Christmas party and we've been married for over seven years.

Dr. Gerry brings the heart and intellect of a primary care provider to the 2010 Gubernatorial election. Being a healthcare provider for eleven plus years he brings a never before seen dynamic to the Governor's office. This innovative and exciting approach puts people first. A sharp contrast to past and present Governors who were CEO's and corporate executives catering to shareholders, stock market trends and other special interest groups. The one special interest that Dr. Gerry has is taking care of his patient's interests.

As a candidate for Governor he will focus on the needs and the resolve of the people of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Dr. Gerry was born in Cambridge Massachusetts forty six years ago. He and his parents eventually moved to Woburn Massachusetts, where he was educated in the Woburn public school system.

After graduating from public school Dr. Gerry played junior and semipro hockey in Canada, US and in the Mid West. After hanging up the skates he went to college. He attended Middlesex Community College and received an Associates Degree in Liberal Arts and Sciences. He then continued onto Salem State College and received a Bachelors Degree in Biological Sciences and a minor in Chemistry. He further continued his education and earned a Doctorates Degree from Palmer College of Chiropractic in San Jose California. He is a licensed primary care provider in both California and Massachusetts. He's presently in private practice in Woburn Massachusetts for over 11 years.

As a primary care provider in California Dr. Gerry was also a healthcare provider for the Sonoma Valley Hospital Integrative Medicine Program. During this period he was part of the Sonoma Valley Health Care Coalition that includes strategic planning, problem solving, decision making and negotiation between local officials, hospital administration and healthcare practitioners to create an integrative hospital system.

Dr. Gerry believes to be of services to the people of the Commonwealth all elected representatives from the Governor down should adhere to the principles outlined in Article 18 (paraphrased) of the Massachusetts Constitution that states, the People have a right, to require of their lawgivers and magistrates, an exact and constant observance of loyalty and devotion (piety), justice, moderation, temperance, industry, frugality, all of which are absolutely necessary to preserve the advantages of liberty, in the formation and execution of the laws necessary for the good administration of the commonwealth.¹

When adherence to those principles is rooted in an administration the People will have a voice in their government. A government that puts the will of the People first will be established and return to the day when government is governed by laws and not by men.²

1. Article XVIII. A frequent recurrence to the fundamental principles of the constitution, and a constant adherence to those of piety, justice, moderation, temperance, industry, and frugality, are absolutely necessary to preserve the advantages of liberty, and to maintain a free government. The people ought, consequently, to have a particular attention to all those principles, in the choice of their officers and representatives: and they have a right to require of their lawgivers and magistrates, an exact and constant observance of them, in the formation and execution of the laws necessary for the good administration of the commonwealth.

2. Article XXX. In the government of this commonwealth, the legislative department shall never exercise the executive and judicial powers, or either of them: the executive shall never exercise the legislative and judicial powers, or either of them: the judicial shall never exercise the legislative and executive powers, or either of them: to the end it may be a government of laws and not of men.
