

Facebook Visitors Confidential Information Acknowledgement

Hi! Welcome to Facebook, we're glad you're here!

Before we get to the point of your visit, we wanted to make sure that we're on the same page.

Here at Facebook, we're developing some great ideas and working on some very cool projects and we care about what we do. While you're visiting, you may see, or hear about, some of these ideas and projects and we consider any information you learn while you're here, to be our confidential information. We take protection of our confidential information very seriously and we wanted to bring this to your attention to make sure that you do too.

Please sign this form to acknowledge that you will not use any confidential information you learn while you're here for anything other than for the purpose of the visit, and that you will not share that confidential information with anyone else.

Thank you and enjoy your visit!

---

Please sign here

---

Please print your name here

---

Please write the name of your company here

---

Date