

Harry Potter Madlibs

“First Date”

(Exclamation) “OH GOD!” said Harry, as he looked at his (noun) BUTTERBEER

(adverb) SASSILY and realized he was late for his first date ever with

(HP character) SNAPE. They were scheduled to meet at (location in the Wizarding World) ROOM OF REQUIREMENT at precisely four o’clock, and it was already five minutes past. He knew he wasn’t supposed to, but he used the (proper name of a spell)

LEVICORPUS spell to summon his broom from the (location in Hogwarts) THE

KITCHENS in order to get to his date faster. He felt (adjective) LONG when the spell didn’t work.

(Exclamation) “OUCH! I’ll just have to apparate there,” Harry said

(adverb) GLOOMILY, knowing full well that he wasn’t allowed to do that either.

(number) 13 minutes later, Harry finally arrived at his date. As he approached nervously, he tried to smooth down his (adjective) HAUGHTY hair. Oh, what was the use! His hair always looked (adjective) CONSPICUOUS.

“You’re (adverb) LAZILY late, Harry!” said his date,

(verb) STROKE-ing at him angrily.

Harry sat down and sweat began to bead on his (external body part) EARLOBE

as his (internal body part) TONGUE began to (verb)

PRANCE

rapidly. His mouth went (adjective) GIT as he opened it to speak.

But before he could say anything, his arch nemesis, (HP character) LUNA

(past tense verb) HUMPED in and said with a sneer, “Well, well, Potter. On a date?” He/She turned to Harry’s date and said (adverb) SWIFTLY, “So did you come willfully, or did he Imperius you?”

“Oh, shut up,” said Harry. “You’re just (adjective) SLY.”

“I’m not (adjective) BENT,” he/she said. “I’ve been on (number) 7 dates this year already.”

Harry crossed his arms over his (body part) TOE and asked challengingly, “Is that so? With whom?”

“Well, lets see now. I took (HP character) CEDRIC to (place) DURMSTRANG, I played (game) MONOPOLY with (HP character) RON WEASLEY, and I even shagged (HP character) DRACO!” he/she boasted.

Harry’s date gasped, “That’s (adjective) SCALDING! You’re such a (noun) SEAT! Let’s get out of here, Harry. I don’t want our date ruined.”

As the couple (past tense verb) TASTED away, Harry’s rival said, “Oh, and I had your little girlfriend too, just so you know.”

That was the last (noun) PANTS. Harry furrowed his brow, pulled out his (noun) ICE CUBE, aimed it at his enemy, and shouted (spell)

“EXPELLIARMUS!”

Then (plural noun) INCUBI began to fly left and right as the two dueled.

Soon, Harry’s date grew bored and said to herself/himself, “I guess I should leave these two to their own devices. Maybe (HP Character) LUCIUS MALFOY is available for a last minute date.”

After (number) 42 minutes of trying to hex each other, the two well-matched adversaries collapsed in a tired heap. Harry realized his date had left him and said to his rival, “I hate you so much it hurts my (body part) ELBOW!”

“I hate you too!” he/she said in return, then smirked, “Wanna snog?”

“Erm, OK,” said Harry, throwing his arms around his/her neck.
