"Improbable Collapse: The Demolition of Our Republic"

is the first film to look at the event of September 11, 2001 from a scientific perspective. On September 11, 2001 the World Trade Center Twin Towers disintegrated in a manner that scientists say resembled deliberately calculated implosions. The facts open for discussion include: at 5:20 p.m. that same day another building, the 47 story WTC7, completely collapsed within 70 feet of its footprint in 6.6 seconds. These three buildings became the first such structures to ever suffer complete collapse due to fire and damage. Film followed by questions and answers.
