Business Mastery in a Dwindling Economy

There are currently many seminars around the Bay Area touting what business owners should do in tough times.

The problem is not that entrepreneurs don't know what to do; they do!

Yet, most business owners won't change a thing until it's too late!

WHY?

The first principle for achieving anything is called "Mastery". Just like you don't decide to climb Mount Everest one day and do it the next; there are things you have to "master" before you can attempt to surmount the gigantic efforts needed to strive or turn your business around. This is what this seminar is about!

Statisticians are currently expecting that a whopping 9% of all small and mid-size businesses will fail in the next 12 months. You can do something about it!

Don't be another statistic!

If you are a business owner, you owe it to yourself to come to this educating seminar and fun workshop. By the end you'll have a personal plan of what YOU need to do for your business to thrive in this dwindling economy!
