

Meet Alicerae Hanley

With over 22 years of service and involvement in Wellspring Women's Center, Alicerae Hanley has certainly been there and done that! Her volunteerism at Wellspring began with the organization's formation, and she has been helping out ever since. She has contributed to our success and growth from the early days when Wellspring operated out of the Broadway storefront, to its move to our permanent firehouse home, and on through to today. Alicerae has worn an assortment of volunteer 'hats'. These roles include serving on fundraising committees, preparing the original operating site (including cleaning, painting and moving furniture!), editing the newsletter, and handwriting thousands of notes.

Our hats are off to you, Alicerae! You are at the heart of Wellspring.

Through the years, she's seen Wellspring grow to meet the needs of its guests. Alicerae is happy with the impact Wellspring has made in the community and especially with the maintained focus on providing hospitality with dignity and love, the foundation on which Wellspring is built.

Looking back over her many activities and memories, she remembers most fondly her role as newsletter editor, which allowed her not only to learn more about the guests, supporters and volunteers of Wellspring, but to tell countless others about Wellspring through the publication.
