

Thinking about voting for Mike Huckabee?

Why not?

“Republican presidential candidate Mike Huckabee told the Christian Broadcasting Network he had a theology degree, he told voters in Iowa he had a theology degree, he repeated the claim in last month’s CNN YouTube debate ... but, his campaign now says, it was not true.”

~worldnetdaily.com

“As governor of Arkansas, Mike Huckabee aggressively pushed for the early release of a convicted rapist despite being warned by numerous women that the convict had sexually assaulted them or their family members, and would likely strike again. The convict went on to rape and murder at least one other woman.”

“Huckabee signed a bill in Arkansas making it more difficult to homeschool your children.”

~illinoisreview.typepad.com

“The ethics commission fined Huckabee $1,000 for failing to report that he paid himself $14,000 from his 1992 U.S. Senate campaign and $43,000 from his 1994 lieutenant governor’s campaign.”

~judicialwatch.org

“An Arkansas Department of Finance and Administration report showed a “net tax increase of $505 million [65% increase], a figure adjusted for inflation and economic growth” on Huckabee’s watch.”

~Pastor Chuck Baldwin

“He’s got a big government heart. He believes that every time you have a problem [or there’s] a need that people have, that we need another government program.”

~Richard Viguerie

“On its annual governor’s report card, Cato gave Huckabee an “F” for fiscal policy during his final term, and an overall two-term grade of “D.” Only four governors had worse scores.”

Thinking about voting for John McCain?

Why not?

“John McCain tried to yoke America with the largest amnesty bill in the history of our country and even voted to allow illegal aliens to participate in Social Security.”

~FactCheck.org

“John McCain was one of only two Republicans who refused to support President Bush’s tax cuts in 2001 and one of only three in 2003. He staunchly opposes eliminating the death tax and has supported raising Social Security taxes.”

~www.clubforgrowth.org

“I think, I think that gay marriage should be allowed if there’s a ceremony kind of thing if you want to call it that.”...“I do not believe that gay marriages should be legal.”

~John McCain 10/18/2006, MSNBC Hardball

“I am not [against civil unions for gay couples].”

~John McCain 11/19/2006, ABC News

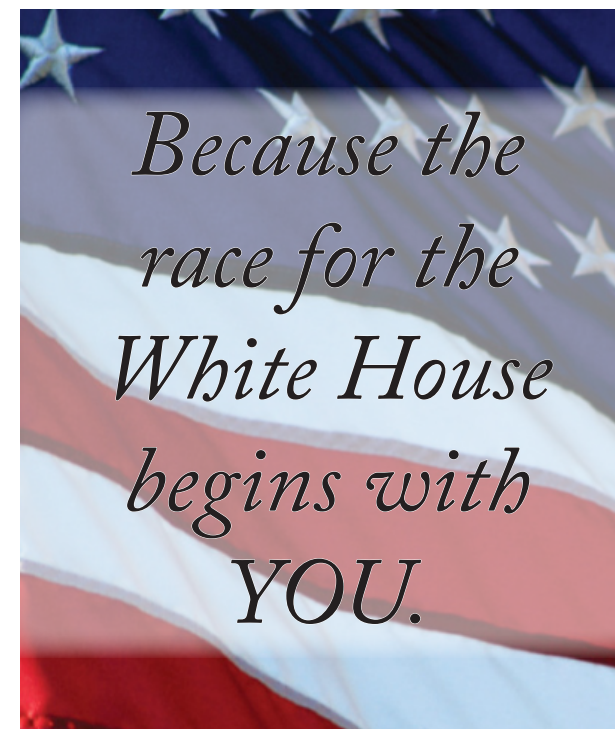

“The Confederate flag is offensive in many, many ways, as we all know. It’s a symbol of racism and slavery.”...“Personally, I see the battle flag as a symbol of heritage.”

~John McCain 1/12/2000, CNN

“He’ll do everything he can to appeal to conservatives he has already tried to silence,” said John Velleco, director of federal affairs at Gun Owners of America, referring to McCain’s support of campaign finance reform. “I think he’s trying to gain the support of conservatives as much as he can.”
