

EMBASSY OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
LONDON

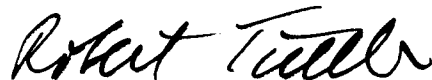

Dear Sir or Madam:

It is my pleasure to inform you that St. Paul's Cathedral will graciously host a Thanksgiving Day service at 11:00 am on Thursday, November 22, 2007, to commemorate this American holiday.

President Lincoln formally established Thanksgiving as an American civic holiday in 1863 as a way of reminding the American people of their many blessings. The Thanksgiving service at St. Paul's has become a tradition in London among American visitors, expatriates, and their British friends.

The service will include a Thanksgiving message, hymns, presentation of the colors, and a reading of President Bush's Thanksgiving proclamation. I ask you to share this information with your colleagues and friends, and I invite you all to join Maria and me at St. Paul's Cathedral Thanksgiving Day service.

Sincerely,

Robert H. Tuttle
Ambassador

 Please note: as a security measure, attendees will be required to pass through a metal detector, and all bags will be searched. Tickets are not required for this event.*

Doors open at 9:45 am; guests should plan to arrive no later than 10:30 am.*