Confirming your identity to sell internationally

Confirming your identity is one of the first steps you'll need to complete before you can start selling internationally on eBay. eBay and PayPal ask its members to confirm their identity in order to increase the security of our community. Plus, with PayPal, members with confirmed identity have unlimited send, receive, and withdraw capabilities on their accounts. You can confirm your identity by choosing any of the following 3 options:

Option 1: Using Your Bank Account \(Recommended\)

Option 2: Using Your Credit Card

Option 3: Contacting Customer Support

Use Your Bank Account (Recommended)

When you start listing your item on eBay, you can choose to confirm your identity by providing your bank account information. Or, you may have already listed your item, and been prompted to complete the identity confirmation process.

Next, all it takes is 3 simple steps:

1. Enter your bank account information to create your PayPal account
2. PayPal will place 2 small deposits in your bank account
3. Check your bank account in 4-6 days, and return to My eBay to enter the 2 amounts.

 Important: If you have not confirmed your identity either linking a verified PayPal account to your eBay account or through customer support, you will not be permitted to sell items internationally. Additionally, all sellers are required to offer PayPal or an approved merchant account as an accepted safe payment method for their international items.

 Any Questions: For more information about confirming your identity, read our International Selling Requirements FAQs.
