Provide: Supply chain management

Singapore is at the crossroads; between China and India, located in Central Pacific Basin, with a multilingual population and a driving economical grow for the entire ASIA.

Singapore is turning into the Switzerland of the East, a global city attracting the talented and the wealthy from around the world.

With over US$43 billion of real estate and infrastructure investment committed till 2011, Singapore is projected to enjoy economic growth this year despite global uncertainties.

Reputed as one of the most secured, quality and attractive property investment options in the market today, Singapore offers good potential as it develops in importance as a hub benefiting from the high-growth economies of China and India.

Supply chain management (SCM) is the process of planning, implementing, and controlling the operations of the supply chain as efficiently as possible. Supply Chain Management spans all movement and storage of raw materials, work-in-process inventory, and finished goods from point-of-origin to point-of-consumption. The definition one American professional association put forward is that Supply Chain Management encompasses the planning and management of all activities involved in sourcing, procurement, conversion, and logistics management activities. Importantly, it also includes coordination and collaboration with channel partners, which can be suppliers, intermediaries, third-party service providers, and customers. In essence, Supply Chain Management integrates supply and demand management within and across companies. As per our activity:
