

A “Brunswick’s Ron Paul For President Meetup Group” ALERT

WHY THE GOV’T FEARS ARMED ‘VETS’

Recent passage by the District of Columbia of the legislation known colloquially as the “Veteran Disarmament Bill” raises the question of why the conspiracy for world government would want to disarm veterans returning from overseas. The conspiracy trusted these men to use the most devastating ordinance weapons, abroad; yet does not trust them to keep and bear much smaller weapons, here at home.

The obvious answer is that these vets are the millions of well-trained military men that the powers-that-be at the top are afraid of, men who can stick the red dot in their eye from a mile away. The powers-that-be know these men are out there, watching, stewing, temperatures rising every day; these vets are beginning to understand that they are dying now because the powers-that-be have poisoned them with Depleted Uranium (DU) in the field.

These vets are beginning to realize that the buddies and the limbs they left behind in Iraq were lost, not in defense of their beloved country, but in behalf of the megalomaniacal nightmare of conquest the psychos at the top think is “normal”. Now the veterans understand that the monsters who sent them half way around the world to get sick are dismantling the system of freedom the founding Fathers gave us, here at home.

So far, they haven’t said much, but the psychos know that veterans are simmering and that something could set them off. So the Nazis at the top want their guns, because it is very nerve wracking to have to keep watching you chest and ‘tum-tum’, hoping that if you see the red dot there soon enough, you will have time to hunker down before the cold round that follows it comes smashing through your perfumed skull and distributes gobs of your polluted brain all over the haute couture ensembles of the distinguished ladies enjoying cocktails on the balcony of your penthouse.

Proof that the psychos are crazy is the their assumption that passage of a so-called “law”, signed by the world government traitor in the White House, will intimidate these men — who have come home from Hell — into surrendering the ordinance they are buying to the bare walls at gunshows and stores; which logically brings us to the proper application of the Second Amendment.

Some Americans understand now that the main purpose of the second Amendment is not hunting, nor sport shooting, and not even self-defense, although it would certainly underwrite those worthy activities.

No! The Founding Fathers wanted each and ALL of us to be armed in the event that somewhere down the road this shaky experiment in self-government they had created but surely did not trust themselves — the federal government — were to get out of control and try to destroy our rights.

They wanted us to “keep and bear” — to carry in hand — the guns we would need to do the job, if it became necessary to “abolish” the government. Remember, the government is not the country. They are two entirely different things. The District of Columbia is the government. You are the country.

These are not my ideas, of course. I can’t take credit for them. The nation’s birth certificate — the Declaration of Independence — says that whenever government become oppressive, whenever it tries to deny their rights, the people under it have the unalienable right to rise up and cast it off, even “abolish” it completely.
