

A woman in a white, flowing dress is captured in a dynamic pose, leaning back with her arms extended. She is positioned on a wooden frame against a dark, textured wood background. The lighting is dramatic, highlighting her form against the dark backdrop. The overall mood is artistic and evocative.

#DIGNITYINPROCESS is a platform for Black leadership development that utilizes embodied ritual practices, participatory art, and creative space-making to steward Black leaders as they create new pathways to sustainable living. Disrupting culturally dominant narratives of endurance and sustainability—particularly pertaining to the #BlackLivesMatter movement, this multidisciplinary performance series uses dance, spoken word, ritual, and storytelling for public intervention.

NORTH | SOUTH is a series of interactive installations and performances utilizing ancestral ceremony, connection to the natural elements, and original choreography to examine how exhaustion and endurance shape Afro-diasporic activism.

NORTH | SOUTH • #DIGNITYINPROCESS is produced by ChE and made possible with support from the New Orleans Loving Festival.
